Arizona Newspaper Directory

How to Use this Directory

While researching the newspapers for the information in this directory I spoke to countless staff members about our cause, as I was trying to get two jobs done at the same time. I wanted to place ads free of charge for volunteers and also advertise our Friday Webinars. Most of the staff I encountered seemed hurried and disinterested but a few of them took the time to ask questions and offer advice. I've highlighted in yellow these few people, as they stand out as potential resources for AZELO. A good starting point when using this directory, would be to target these highlighted people first.

This directory is meant to be a living document. Contact Marie MacWhyte at (360) 306-1532 (voice or text) or m.macwhyte@azendoflifeoptions.org if corrections or additions are needed. Like many other industries during our tumultuous times, the newspaper industry is an area of constant change, and only by continually updating this directory will we have a reliable resource.

I've arranged the newspapers by county with the most populated counties appearing first. After county, comes parent company. I discovered that very often, several newspapers reside under one umbrella, with one classified ad manager, one event designer, and often one editor overseeing several newspapers, and a submission to one will make it into one or more newspapers, especially if you specify how much coverage you are targeting. Therefore, all newspapers under the jurisdiction of one editorial staff are listed by parent company.

I hope you find this directory useful!

Publication: Arizona Capitol Times <https://azcapitoltimes.com/>

Covering: State wide

Corporate office: Arizona News Service, Phoenix, AZ

Circulation size: 5,250

The Arizona Capitol Times is a non-partisan, weekly newspaper covering state politics and government; published every Friday in Phoenix, Arizona. The paper focuses on the Arizona Legislature, the state's politicians, government agencies and elected leadership.

Media Bias Factcheck: Wikipedia rates Arizona Capitol Times Least Biased for story selection and word choices and High for factual reporting due to proper sourcing of information.

Main Number: (602) 258-7026

Covers the Capitol news but is distributed throughout the entire state.

March and April the newspaper focuses on Health topics.

This publication is good for influencing lawmakers.

Offers a webinar program. The paper records the webinar and posts onto their youtube page. Cost is $3500. Lisa suggested we can have sponsors to offset costs. Audience is trained to watch webinars. Sometimes they can get an elected official to panel participants in the webinar.

They also produce "The Breakdown" an award-winning weekly podcast on the latest news from the Arizona political scene.

Rusty Bradshaw is the editor covering Sun City, Sun City West, Peoria, Surprise. But he will work with us to direct our news/announcements to the appropriate editors; including the daily paper. But if it's in the daily paper, it will not run in the community papers.

Rusty will take notices on volunteers wanted, webinars, meetings, etc., BUT the announcements must have a local focus. No real word limit but concise is best.

Rusty will also take "Guest Commentary" articles from someone with expertise. But it must relate to the community ie. NW Valley (have a "local hook").
